Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System,
ATTN of: Ann E. Misback, Secretary,
20th Street and Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20551
Subject Line: Comments on Docket No. OP-1793

To whom it may concern,

Attached are the signatures and comments of 6,240 individuals who signed onto the following statement through the Sierra Club.

Thank you for finally taking up the issue of climate change's effect on banks. Your attention to this issue is long overdue, as other regulators in the US and abroad have already taken steps to address these risks. I am writing to urge you to quickly finalize these principles and start issuing more detailed expectations about how banks can put them into practice.

Even as banks publicly claim to be taking climate change seriously and phasing out financing for greenhouse gas emissions, they are investing billions into companies that produce fossil fuels. Banks' continued investments in risky fossil fuel assets help drive climate change -- a crisis that puts people of color and low-income communities, our financial system, and the habitability of our planet at risk.

Regulators must not let financial institutions gamble with our future. The Board must act with urgency to ensure banks take the steps necessary to address the dangers they face from climate change, while stopping their short-term business decisions from endangering our economy and communities.

I support the proposed guidance's recommendations to banks that they:

- Incorporate climate-related risk management into every level of business;
- Plan for climate change over a long time horizon, and update models as additional data becomes available;
- Develop clear definitions of possible climate-related risk exposures, and metrics for setting limits;
- Make sure that banks' internal strategies are consistent with their public-facing climate commitments; and
- Avoid risk management strategies that disproportionately harm disadvantaged communities.

In particular, the Board must ensure that banks' actions match their commitments to zeroing out their net carbon emissions. Banks' management of climate risk should be factored into their supervisory ratings, too. The Board must also acknowledge that net zero transition plans at large banks are an important tool for managing climate risk, and that by mitigating climate change, these plans can also have positive effects on community banks that are particularly vulnerable to climate risk.

It is in the best interest of both the public and banks themselves to act now to minimize climate risk. The Fed must use the full extent of its authority to issue strong final guidance to banks on climate risk, continue to protect against unsafe and unsound bank practices, and require remedies from banks where appropriate.

1,101 of these signers, you might also notice, added their own additional personal comments. If there are any questions about this statement or our positions on this matter do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Adele Shraiman

/so many Americans trust all kinds of banks to make reasonable decisions about our future. The largest banks need to take responsibility to understand and act truthfully on the dangers of climate change.

?Love makes the world go around? Love of what? Several metaphor speaking factors are ?Love?. Currently, under human species control, ?money? is making this world go around. Our human form of ?love? is also murdering life, and the physical resources that actually allow our species to continue breathing and reproducing. Negative to our survival climate changes, are being literally fueled by the money regulators, banks and other financial regulators. The fate of many billions of life forms, including ours, depend on your intelligence, your short and long term actions starting today. Love of ?money? must become ?love of this planet?.

A very fine thing to do

10. Miles Bergeson
Saint Paul, MN 55116
Accounting for climate change and investing in renewable energy isn't some political move - it's just good investing! New fossil fuel infrastructure projects are just plain risky investments - they cause environmental disasters, contribute to climate change, and eventually they're going to run dry. Invest smarter!

11. Jennifer Jenkins

All of us need to do our part in the climate situation. But you people have huge pull in whatever direction we take. Take responsibility. Don't fund the death of this planet. It would hurt for a while, but the planet gets to live on.

21. Sharon Osika-Michales
Skaneateles, NY 13152
All of us need to take climate change seriously and to do something about it. Large banks need to change business practices that continue the bad effects of climate change.

All the money in the world will not reverse climate and damage to this planet once it's gone too far!!

24. William Carrico

Las Vegas, NV 89149

All the reliable data shows that it is just as profitable to invest in climate friendly projects as it is to rape and pillage the environment. And if you add in the benefit to your fellow humans the profits are much greater.

25. Chris Eaton

Los Angeles, CA 90041

All those responsible for environmental degradation, both parties performing physical operations and those financing and sharing in profits, should be held responsible for retribution to those injured physically or financially. Any scars left on the environment should be healed by the same responsible parties.

26. Julianne Clark

Seattle, WA 98133

All your profits count for nothing if we lose Mother Earth.

27. Geoffrey Michaelson

Aloha,

You must act now!

28. Janine Lauchner

Moorpark, CA 93021

Americans are working diligently to break away from fossil fuels and to embrace green energy solutions...it's time the big banks did the same and take climate change seriously.

29. John Dalton

Manasquan, NJ 8736

America's banks must stop funding fossil fuel projects and begin to take climate change seriously.

30. James Baker

San Marcos, TX 78666

And please work to guard against GREENWASHING.

31. Rachel Pratt

Oak View, CA 93022

Another way in which banks show that they care not a whit about the lives of the people whose money they get fat on.

32. Erich Slimak

Brooklyn, NY 11206

Any economist (or scientist) worth their salt can tell you that the money in fossil fuels is disappearing in favor of renewables; the industry is not only a wildly destructive timebomb, it is simply not profitable in the long term. Don't y'all care about smart investments? Then keep your foot on the gas re: renewable, clean energy. Hold banks accountable.

33. Ethel Fowler

Plainfield, NJ 7062

Anyone who is not working to help slow climate change is an enemy of the world.

34. Pat Larson

Orange, MA 1364

As a 80-year old grandmother, I have lived long enough to see changes in the winters and felt it in my bones that there is less snow cover in New England. This affects winter recreation, maple syrup production with drastic temperature swings and many other things in the world. I want my grandchildren to have good lives on Planet Earth. Please send up regulations to have all banks deal with the climate crisis that is upon us now.

35. Wahhab Baldwin

Portland, OR 97215

As a Christian minister with a science background, I am well aware that the climate crisis is the greatest moral, financial, and human issue we face. It is essential that action be taken that is swift, comprehensive, and effective. You uniquely have the capacity as well as the moral obligation to take this action to protect the American people.

36. Hope Smith

Red Lodge, MT 59068

As a grandmother I am terrified about my grandchildren's future. We must do everything humanly possible to address climate change!

37. Roland Wilhelmy

Rancho Santa Fe, CA 92067

As a grandparent I want to do anything I can to make sure that my grandchildren have a world where life is worth living.

38. Sara Namas

Albuquerque, NM 87110

As a mother I am concerned about my children's future in the face of climate crisis.

39. Monica Sanchez

Chapel Hill, NC 27514

As a mother, I want clean air, clean water, safe food, and a healthy planet for the generations to come. Fossil fuels have no place in a clean future. I very much support new guidelines telling banks that they must take climate risk seriously.

40. Linda Blythe

Philadelphia, PA 19104

As a mutual fund owner, I want all banks and fund managers to take climate risk into account when making investments. If we don't stop investments in fossil fuels, we will have billions of lost assets in coastal and fire vulnerable communities.

41. Charles Jansen

Asheville, NC 28806

As a person of faith and conscience, I believe in being a good steward of the Earth and caring for all Creation. Hence I urge that risky investments in fossil fuel assets be sharply regulated & made expensive to arrange.

42. Alan Peterson, MD.

Willow St, PA 17584

As a physician specializing in environmental medicine, I can state how important this is!

43. Sheila Out

Ithaca, NY 14850

As a retired employee and current shareholder of a major bank, this issue is very personal to me.

44. Cathy Geist

Minneapolis, MN 55406

As a retired Environmental Science/Biology instructor at a local community college, I am deeply concerned about the climate crisis and its life-threatening impacts on all of life. If we are to prevent further extinctions, habitat loss, ecological devastation caused by drought and fires, the myriad of impacts on humans, and all the other significant consequences of climate change, we must take action that works. This includes immediate actions by banks that will make a significant difference on climate change prevention (e.g. fossil fuel funding).

45. Phyllis Albritton

Blacksburg, VA 24060

As a retired financial advisor, I do understand how BIG money believes it needs MORE MONEY, BUT for the sake of future generations (your and my great-great-grandchildren, we MUST commit ourselves to the future of our environment.....

46. Walt Mintkeski

Portland, OR 97202

As a retiree, I depend on my banks to manage my funds wisely and with minimal risk. All banks must be required to consider climate risk as part of their fiduciary duties to their customers including me.

47. Gavin Landless

North Syracuse, NY 13212

As a risk manager for a $3B credit union, I am working towards adopting the PCAF framework to measure our carbon footprint, set science-based targets and report transparently on our environmental impact. If a credit union like mine can take these steps and seriously consider environmental risk in our strategy, no excuses remain to the large banks except that without regulatory oversight they are not required to take the climate crisis seriously. The SEC is starting to take meaningful steps towards climate oversight, and the Federal Reserve must act now. Until the financial industry in the US seriously reckons with the impacts of climate breakdown and the true costs of continuing to underwrite new fossil fuel drilling projects we are heading towards disaster. Please act with all strength on this issue, because this truly is an emergency.

48. Brad Snyder

Maple Grove, MN 24957

As a Science Teacher/Environmental Educator, former Mechanical Engineer, and an extremely concerned citizen, I wholeheartedly support new guidelines telling banks to take climate risk seriously!! Banks' continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change -- a crisis that puts vulnerable communities, our financial system, and our planet at risk!!

49. Jennifer Jones

Sapulpa, OK 74066

As a veteran public educator, I believe teachers must help ensure a healthy environment for future generations.

50. Rebecca Novick

Larchmont, NY 10538

As a young person incredibly concerned about climate change, I understand the role of financial institutions in perpetuating the climate crisis and propping up the fossil fuel industry. We need to implement strong regulations to manage climate risk and fully transition away from a fossil fuel economy.

51. Mary Parr

Reading, MA 1867

As an elderly grandparent and retired pediatrician I ask in hopes for a liveable earth for them

52. Elizabeth Kaehler

Washington, DC 20002

As an individual citizen my power is limited. We need the bigger power players such as you to step up!

53. Karen Ball

Oxford, OH 45056

As an individual I am doing all the small things to help stop the climate crisis. The Banks need to do their part. The government regulations can help. I support the new guidelines steering banks to take climate risk seriously.

54. Mary Lou Rosczyk
Murrieta, CA 92562

As an individual, I do my part to lessen my impact upon climate change, however small. It is important that the institutions and industries, who can have a much larger impact, do their part.

55. Christine Thomas-Melly
Santa Rosa, CA 95401

As an investor and a citizen, I believe climate change is an important issue for big business.

56. John Steele
Boulder, CO 80305

As an investor who cares both about my financial future and the future of a livable planet I urge you to take climate risk seriously.

57. MaryRose Randall
Rock Hill, SC 29730

As an investor, it is important to me that financial institutions take climate change into account when investing my money. I do not wish to further contribute to climate change and the destruction of the environment for profit. This is the only planet on which we can live and short-term greed that further destroys our planet affects all of us.

58. Annette Tchelka
West Haven, CT 6516

As environmentalists say, there is NO Planet B! The severe damage as a result of climate change is costing us billions per MONTH. Time to divest from the fossil fuel industry and support green energy, organic farming, clean air and water initiatives, etc.

59. Bill LaBine
Avon, NY 14414

As Florida is swallowed up by rising seas and devastated by stronger hurricanes... It's past time to take action!

60. Ariel Bickel
Albuquerque, NM 87108

As institutions that control business investments, you wield great power. With this comes great responsibility and it's time for banks and the financial industry to lead the way on responsible investing AND divesting. You hold such opportunity to leave a legacy far greater than your quarterly earnings, please step up and do the essential thing for our collective future! Thank you.

61. Eric Thompson
Bismarck, ND 58503

As representatives of all of the people of this country, you are responsible to see that all of the people benefit from any decision you make. Please do not let wealth determine your judgment.

62. Kathleen Smith
San Jose, CA 95112

As stewards of the Earth, we all -- including banks -- must protect our environment and the health and safety of all who live here.

63. Jeff Botz
Monroe, NC 28112

As the Fed knows rapid change upsets the balance in society and the climate changes that are happening and increasing at an accelerating rate, will destabilize society in a very negative way.

64. Tom Long
Staunton, VA 24401

As the owner of a small cottage on Hatteras Island, I see increasing effects of climate change and rising seas. Money talks? there needs to be financial pressure to encourage positive actions on climate change!

65. Barbara Lambdin
South Dennis, MA 2660

As we often say- Follow the Money! You hold the purse strings and can make a big difference by saying-you won't help fund harmful endeavors. Do the right thing

66. Scott Reynolds
Owensboro, KY 42301
As you well know, aiding the environment is an important commitment. It's something that God wants our assistance to make it work in an environmental justice kind of way. Our world will change in amazing ways with our efforts towards these environmental endeavors. Thank God we have this chance to help mother earth. Dragging out the use of fossil fuels creates grave danger for the participants. As the 19th century, had the mandate to wean themselves off whale oil; so shall we be weaned from fossil fuels. There are great opportunities to be reaped. God will bless us triple -- quadruple or even better with amazing benefits. Good day Sirs!

67. Terri Dugan
Rochester, MN 55906
Bank should be investing our money in CLEAN ENERGY

68. C. Menn
Columbus, OH 43214
Bankers could care less about making decisions for a 20 year plan let alone a 5 year plan so the Feds have to either mandate or coerce these behemoths. So do your job for future generations or there will be no future generations.

69. Connie Cotton
Charlottesville, VA 22903
Banks and insurance companies should immediately desist from supporting current and continued fossil fuel projects. Such projects provide benefit only for the greedy corporations and imperil our already endangered planet to a fate of ultimate destruction.

70. Ravid Raphael
Santa Barbara, CA 93111
Banks and other financial backers of the fossil fuel industry must stop funding them. I just read that my California earthquake insurance coverages are being modified because reinsurance rates have increased due to increased costs from climate change related disasters.

71. Jack Whitney
Glenview, IL 60025
Banks and other financial institutions must actively demonstrate support the transfer to no carbon release energy sources if our children's children are to have any chance.

72. Monica Steensma
Santa Fe, NM 87505
BANKS are a HUGE part of the problem with CLIMATE CHANGE!!
If they are incentivized, or forced by penalties, to STOP financing fossil fuel projects, much of further development of this dreadful source of climate & environmental destruction will come to a screaming halt -- and, current operations under finance will soon feel the stress if loans are not re-negotiated, re-issued, or extended!

The banks behind much of accelerating climate change MUST BE STOPPED from enabling this filthy energy source to continue expanding, & eventually, to freeze it out through monetary punishment!

73. Lois Ebey

Macon, GA 31201

Banks are funded by Americans hard earned money and savings and investments. As an American citizen, I expect the banks that I use to honor the environment that my family lives in, not put my savings at risk by investing in fossil fuels that harm our environment and accelerate climate change.

74. Richard Major

Philadelphia, PA 19147

Banks are putting billions into companies that produce fossil fuels. Those investments drive climate change, threatening vulnerable communities, our financial system, and the planet.??Federal financial regulators have done little to ensure that banks respond appropriately to climate risks. Finally, the Federal Reserve has taken an important step to ensure that major banks respond to climate change and the risks it poses to our economy. ??Please support the new guidance requiring banks to plan for the long-term impacts of climate change and not focus only on short-term profits. Use the full extent of the Fed?s authority to prevent a climate-fueled economic crash.

The Federal Reserve now joins a handful of other important financial regulators in taking this step to protect our economy from climate-related risks and ensure Wall Street does its part too.

75. Heidi Hickman

Irving, TX 75038

Banks are required to take risks seriously ... except when those risks endanger lives and property and the environment? Make it make sense.

76. Janet Muir

Marcellus, NY 13108

Banks are said to be too big to let them fail, so the public has had to bail them out when their risks became our liabilities. I support regulating them so they don't help drive us to climate disaster just to make $$$.

77. Jim Stone

Asheville, NC 28804

Banks are so important to the very survival of nature. They should be conscious of the impacts of their investments and act for the future of our children and the environment and for people.

78. Rona Fried

Huntington Station, NY 11746

Banks are still financing fossil fuels in billions of dollars even though they keep saying they won't. Enough!@

79. Sydney MCILHENNY

NEW YORK, NY 10024

Banks are suppose to be sound financial institutions that can be trust to make safe investments for our future. Yet these banks are deeply invested in funding fossil fuel development. Any one who can read know that extraction & use of fossil fuel increases climate chance. Perhaps the banks don't understand that climate change, if not reduced will destroy the planet and make it incapable of sustaining human life. Hardly a sound investment!

80. Cathleen and Scott Weston

Post Falls, ID 83854

Banks are to serve the people not profit from the people .....

81. Lynne Firestone

Evanston, IL 60203

Banks can be part of the solution, and not part of the problem. By investing wisely, they can help to minimize climate change.

82. Cheryl Champy

Media, PA 19063

Banks can have a positive effect on climate change by denying fossil fuel investments. Please do so.

83. Barb Bittenbinder

89. Joseph Belcastro

Shermans Dale, PA 17090

Banks' continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change -- a crisis that puts vulnerable communities, our financial system, and our planet at risk. Please provide a counter incentive that is beneficial to all parties.

90. Jody Mahnken

Boise, ID 83713

Banks' continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change -- a crisis that puts vulnerable communities, our financial system, and our planet at risk. Stop investing in fossil fuels!

91. Jean Zeller

Harrison, TN 37341

Banks' continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change -- a crisis that puts vulnerable communities, our financial system, and our planet at risk. This spending needs to be changed to environmental projects.

92. Pamela Webster

Ridgefield, WA 98642

Banks' continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change. We need banks to be on board for protecting human and environmental survival, not for short sighted financial short-term exploitation.

93. Melissa Johnson

Crowley, TX 76036

Banks depend on the public's trust. How can we trust institutions that are knowingly destroying our planet? Do the right thing and take climate risk seriously. Stop investing in fossil fuels!

94. Leilani Henry

Conifer, CO 80433

Banks funding big oil and gas plus gov subsidies is helping to escalate green house gases. And I'm not getting any help paying my higher gas bills either!

95. Henry Renze

Bowie, MD 20715

Banks have a significant role to play in our economy and our nation. As such, they should be held responsible for ensuring that our economy and nation move in the right direction: away from dirty fossil fuels and towards clean, renewable energy, with utmost regard for the safety and health of the public, both short- and long-term. This new guidance would hopefully help do that, and so I urge you to finalize these guidelines so that banks help make progress on fighting the climate crisis instead of contributing to the problem.

96. Virginia Purvis

Salem, OR 97302

Banks have as much at stake as I, an "ordinary citizen," have.

97. Marie Morgan

Santa Fe, NM 87507

Banks have even more duty to the public good than most companies, because they are entirely using other people's money, including mine. I urge you to rethink your mission so it serves humanity more directly.

98. Kate Champa

Providence, RI 2906

Banks have power -- over ventures large and small. Thus far banks and bankers are using that power to enrich themselves and their "patrons" while simultaneously putting their depositors, the human race and our natural world in inescapable danger! Banks and bankers must take their proportionally large place in addressing climate dangers seriously and utilize their power of the purse and act to be consistently on the right side of protecting all species on earth rather than endangering the world in pursuit of private gain!

99. Cathie Nelsen

Cabin John, MD 20818

Banks have so much influence and money that what they do has an extra large impact, for good or bad. Please step up here, for all of us.

100. Charles Tazzia

Grosse Pointe, MI 48236

Banks have the power to start saving our planet, or to hasten its destruction. Our climate is already being transformed and we are in the biggest extinction event in the last 65 million years. We cannot count on them to do the right thing. They must be compelled to do so.

101. William Spadel

Woodbury Heights, NJ 8097

Banks have the responsibility to invest in the technologies that will help secure our environment.

102. Mary Troland

Oceanside, NY 11572

Banks have to stop financing fossil-fuel projects.

103. Joan Spiering

Portland, OR 97212

Banks hold and invest OUR money! We want you to work for US by investing in CLIMATE solutions NOW!

104. Katherine Longabaugh

Washington, DC 20011

Bank's investments in fossil fuel projects is extremely risky and will cause destruction long-term throughout all systems. They must take extra responsibility in working to resolve the climate crisis as a large contributor to these harmful projects.

105. Maria Irizarry

San Juan, PR 907

Banks must assume responsibility for their actions. They must do everything in their power to protect the environment and curtail climate change. It is the right thing to do!

106. Gina Bergstrom

Vandalia, MI 49095

Banks must be held accountable for loaning money to fossil fuel polluters. Our country is in a crisis and these polluters should not be allowed to get away with actions that affect the whole world's health.

107. Maria O'Reilly

Marlton, NJ 8053

Banks must not lend to businesses that are investing in pollution.

108. Sue Batchelor

Bryan, TX 77803

Banks must stop investing in fossil fuels -- they're deadly to our future

109. Robin Aitro

Cheshire, CT 6410

Banks must take Climate Change Seriously

110. Susan Wulff

Skaneateles, NY 13152

Banks must take climate change risk into account to keep the financial system healthy!

111. Elaine Weir

Scarsdale, NY 10583

Banks must take climate change risk seriously.

112. Wallace Elton

Middlebury, VT 5753

Banks must take climate change seriously or the economy will be in deep trouble.

113. Vinnedge Lawrence

West Baldwin, ME 4091

Banks must terminate investing in fossil fuels.

114. Peter Switalski

Richmond, KY 40475

Banks need to be responsible as part of the solution in the quest to reverse climate change.

115. Richard Donnelly

Bellingham, WA 98229

Banks need to behave responsibly.

116. Betsy Smith

Brewster, MA 2631

Banks need to put their money where the future is, and that is into protecting the environment.

117. Lynn Lessard

Las Vegas, NV 89148

Banks need to stop backing fossil fuel companies that pollute our planet and hurt all life forms. Climate change will continue unchecked unless that backing ends and switches to funding green energy sources instead.

118. Judith Doty
Hampton, VA 23666
Banks need to stop funding fossil fuel companies. It's time to protect the planet

119. Thomas Griffith
Omaha, NE 68114
Banks need to stop looking the other way and take responsible actions to address their role in dealing with climate change.

120. myrene oconnor
Palmyra, VA 22963
Banks need to wake up! Their money is being wasted and now is the time for them to invest in our planet's clean energy.

121. Kathleen S. Robertson
Austin, TX 78749
Banks purport to be responsible to & invested in the community. Climate change issues are bringing people together. Banks should be on the leading front & not just on times of crisis. Lending to institutions that undermine climate change is irresponsible.

122. Sue Schneider
Oconomowoc, WI 53066
Banks seem to have a very callous attitude; it is time they started caring.

123. Mario Magpale
Palmdale, CA 93550
Banks should be considering their role in the impact of climate change.

124. Sidney Gibson

University heights, OH 44118
Banks should be held accountable for supporting the destruction of the planet we all live on.

125. Peter Followill
Tucker, GA 30084
Banks should be held accountable to their climate commitments. Otherwise, their words are at best meaningless and at worst deliberately deceptive.

126. Stan Madro
Trenton, MI 48183
Banks should be supporting green energy and not fossil fuels.

127. Margaret Keating
Minneapolis, MN 55414
Banks should not be supporting destroying the earth.

128. Michael Burke
Toms River, NJ 8757
Banks will continue to invest in fossil fuel projects because when there is money involved, ethics goes out the window. The Federal Reserve needs to provide strong guidance because banks will not.

129. Christine Dingeman
Lapeer, MI 48446
Banks, large corporations and the very, very rich MUST take climate change seriously!

130. Deborah Continenza
Chardon, OH 44024
Banks' continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change. It is time for the banks to quit these investments in fossil fuels. I support new guidelines telling banks to take climate risk seriously.

131. Cheryl Costigan

Spirit Lake, ID 83869

Barring some galactic catastrophe, planet Earth will go on. Climate Crisis is upon us and is doing tremendous harm and putting stress on humans and all other creatures inhabiting this globe.

My family lives lightly. We do what we can. And we call upon businesses - including the financial sector - to also take responsibility.

132. Randy Eckstein

Before you, Governors, are both a Professional and PERSONAL opportunity! On behalf of PEOPLE and ALL life on our beautiful, complex planet, PLEASE! GET SERIOUS. We SUPPORT new guidance to Big Banks that require them to mitigate the climate risks THAT THEY CURRENTLY FUND - appalling as it is.

We're DEPENDING on you to act RESPONSIBLY (as they have not) and your own standing - whether looking in the MIRROR or others evaluating your professional responsibilities - will SKYROCKET. With our FOUR (4) generation family in accord, we send you our high hopes and appreciation!

137. Jane Kwiatkowski

Eugene, OR 97405

Beyond short-term planning, it is clear that investment in fossil fuel operations and their supports will not be viable. Wise financial investors and supporters would be on the cutting edge of investing in green-energy replacements, such as wind and solar power; and technologies for battery efficiency, sustainable design, and recycling; among other technologies, R&D, and training for the transition to all-clean energy & transportation as quickly as possible.

138. Dee Hoagland

Flagstaff, AZ 86004

Big banks are financially supporting and benefiting from climate change by continually funding fossil fuel companies.

Big banks need to stop funding the climate crisis now.

144. Dianne Woelke
Oceanside, CA 92057
Break out of the perpetual Ground Hog's Day cycle. It's time to hold those responsible for the climate crisis legacy we are leaving for the generations who will inherit the complacency and errors of our generation. It's also time to hold those who fund the offenders accountable as well.

145. Patrick Kobold
San Bernardino, CA 92405
Can everybody just step back for a minute and stop. Just stop. Stop putting a price tag on everything. I live in California and less than 200 years ago, all the mountains around me were stuffed with trees, now they are gone. Logging. Throughout history, man thinks that what they are doing is the right thing. Well history has time and again proven him wrong. I know it's a hard reality to grasp, but: human nature < nature. All of the lush green trees and waters and all that is beautiful was here before man, and it may not be after man is gone. Everyday, the world becomes more and more polluted and for what? I am glad you are helping address organizations such as Sierra Clubs' concerns. This is my personal message in conjunction with theirs. Thank you.

146. Irene and Stephen Bachhuber
Portland, OR 97202

Capitalism is the ultimate source of climate change. The economics must change in order to ameliorate climate change. The Banks will not change without an external stimulus. This is an appropriate action for the Federal Reserve Board of Governors.

Climate change is a very serious threat to our civilization. Everyone is threatened.

166. Marion Black

Akron, OH 44303

Climate change is affecting every place I've lived ? in Ohio the lakes never freeze any more & spring comes early. In Tucson, 110 degrees was rare in the 80s & commonplace now. In San Diego, coastal communities are shocked by unaccustomed high temperatures. Our nation is facing a crisis and we need to use our resources responsibly

167. Thomas Rowan
Bronx, NY 10462
Climate change is already affecting the world. Important to provide the banks with guidance to address this important issue.

168. Hallie Bowie
Akron, OH 44313
Climate change is already creating economic losses for cities and farms in the U.S. and global instability. We need the financial sector to adapt to the new realities and make the changes that will help protect all of us.

169. Rebecca Cummings
Unicoi, TN 37692
Climate change is already impacting people's lives and altering the risk curves for personal and business activities. Banks need to contribute to the solution, not be part of the problem. They need to recognize where responsibility lies for these growing threats.

170. Lynn Waters
Irmo, SC 29063
Climate change is an emergency!

171. Victoria Skalland

Climate change is an existential problem. Banks must be part of the solution.

173. Christopher Grannis
Bellingham, WA 98229
Climate change is an existential threat. Please do everything you can to force banks to stop financing climate change.

174. Jonathan Pinkerton
Minneapolis, MN 55406
Climate change is by far the biggest problem our world is facing. Our house is burning down while we put money into draperies. 0% of our population lives in floodplains and deltas; sea level is rising as the ocean warms and the ice melts. Turning away from fossil fuels can slow the warming, help prevent the greatest mass refugee exodus in human history. Please use your financial strength to help avoid this man made catastrophe.

175. Deborah Milkowski
New Bern, NC 28562
Climate change is causing trillions of dollars in damage yearly in our country alone. This is an all hands on deck moment. Every sector of the economy must do everything it can to mitigate climate damage.

176. Edward Berry
Bronx, NY 10463
Climate change is changing our society right now. We all need to do whatever we can to get ready. Banks need to get out of the business of funding damaging systems.

177. Karen Beltz
MINNEAPOLIS, MN 55423
Climate change is delicate wording for the catastrophic floods, fires, droughts, and worsening storms we already face.

Everyone expresses concern, but we need to stop wringing our hands and DO more. You have the opportunity to hold banks accountable. Please do everything you can. All of us, and all of our descendents, are depending on you.

178. Lynn Lamb
Sequim, WA 98382
Climate change is EVERYBODY'S business. It requires all of us to pitch in and not just do what we "can", but do what is required to halt and remediate the damage to our environment. LITERALLY, our future depends on it.

179. Marilyn Lohr
ALBUQUERQUE, NM 87102
Climate change is the biggest threat to the safety and security of all Americans. Climate caused fires, floods, hurricanes and heavy rain and drought climate shifts affect not only wildlife, but human life. Where and when will farmers be able to plant/harvest, how will cities meet water demands, etc. The cost to repair damage from severe storms already is in the billions. I urge you to consider these factors in the management of banks.

Climate change is not a temporary or passing thing. It is real, it is happening now, and it will only get worse if we do nothing about it. The weather catastrophes we are seeing now are only a preamble of what is to come if we don't take action now. Banks need to invest in alternative energy projects, not new fossil fuel ones.

Climate change puts everyone at risk and must be clearly and strongly taken into account by banks. It's totally unacceptable for financial institutions to say that they want to address climate-related risk and then continue to support fossil fuels. They are trading medium- and longer-term risk for short-term gain and business as usual.
Release strong new guidance for banks

Climate doesn't simply threaten our live, but also our food supply. A bank can't make money when people are dying. Don't gamble with your money. Prepare for the worst. That's your safest bet and then put all you've got behind it to prevent the worst.

216. Richard Hill

Federal regulations of banks and financial services is long overdue, especially those that continue to pour our money into more rapidly destroying our planet by supporting fossil fuel corporations. Please stop them from doing that so easily or at all. We need your intervention because all they care about is making profit that mostly benefits their CEOs and top management with mega-salaries and bonuses for ruining the climate we all have to endure now.

Financial institutions have tremendous power and influence on our problems especially climate change. Collectively they need to know that millions of everyday people want banks to seriously address climate change. Stop funding climate destroying industries!

282. Patrick Stoffel

Financial institutions need to take our climate problems seriously. A lack of action by banks and financial institutions may be another sign that capitalism has no built in mechanism besides selfish-motivation or greed to affect change.

283. Kae Bender

Financing fossil fuels is as bad as producing fossil fuels. Both enable the perpetuation of our national and global dependence on fossil fuel energy. To save our environment and protect our Earthly habitat, we must end our use of fossils and instead transition as quickly as possible to green energy. The environment, our health, and our grandkids' future depend on our actions NOW to limit, reduce, and replace fossil fuel production and use. As a global leader in the climate crisis actions, we must step up and end our support for the fossil fuel status quo NOW.

For too long companies and banks have focused almost totally on the bottom line - profits. None of that is going to matter to future generations if Earth becomes uninhabitable. For years, big banks have been pouring money into risky fossil fuel investments, ignoring the growing risks of climate change, and putting our own savings at risk. Now, financial regulators are finally taking action by releasing new guidance for big banks on how to respond to climate change.
Act before February 6: Tell financial regulators that you support new guidelines telling banks to take climate risk seriously! Take action!
Dear Nick,
Even as banks publicly claim to be taking climate change seriously, they are actively pouring billions of dollars into companies that produce fossil fuels. Banks' continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change -- a crisis that puts vulnerable communities, our financial system, and our planet at risk.

For years, federal financial regulators have done little to ensure that banks respond appropriately to climate risks. But finally, the Federal Reserve is America's central bank and most important financial regulator.

Funding fossil fuel projects apparently is still profitable. That is not a good thing because of the environmental damage and global warming to which these projects contribute. Banks need to be held accountable for their role in fostering climate change.

314. Lois Upham
Covington, GA 30016
Funding is necessary to support virtually all activities and, conversely, lack of funding can deter activity. We NEED to deter activities that harm our environment and big banks can help by withholding money from activities that will contribute to the destruction of our environment and help by supporting sustainable ones. I am glad to support the new guidelines that tell big banks to take every opportunity to support action that will mitigate climate risks.

Having the Fed pay obvious attention to the climate crisis is extremely helpful for the late-to-the-party members of the community of financial investment professionals. I was appalled many years ago when one of my investment advisors said, "Tell me again, please, how smog is different from ozone in the atmosphere?" I know that she, like many others--including our nation's ex-President--have little science background. If the Fed is blatantly concerned about climate and if it requires an evaluation of true climate-friendliness in order to get an honorable rating, well, that must mean that I better pay attention to it as well, right? So would think at least some of our nation's decision-makers.
The existence of an anti-ESG faction who are criticizing the SEC for paying attention to a company's governance, environmental practices, and social impact is a similar proof that these things do indeed matter and that the public needs to keep pressing for corporate responsibility.

327. Martha Gifford
Brooklyn, NY 11201
How can we be confident of the investments big banks make with our money if they are free to ignore the risks of climate change? We can not. I am strongly in favor of all banks, but particularly the major banking institutions, taking ACTION to reduce the challenging effects we are already experiencing from changes in our climate. Could banks begin to offer incentives not just for doing business with them, but for financial choices in favor of energy sources and uses that do not depend on fossil fuels? Could banks do more to encourage an economy based on choices that mitigate climate change effects?

I know the Federal Reserve has stated multiple times it is not a policy-making body. I agree. However, when it comes to climate, it doesn't have to be. Simply examining the mountain of scientific evidence (and not bowing at the knees of the fossil fuel industry) will illustrate how important it is that the federal reserve direct banks to properly implement climate actions.

375. Devan Fields

I know you are investors and looking for cheap solutions, but I feel that the time is now for cooperation and using more natural resources. States out west could have nearly 100 percent solar energy. This helps keep our planet clean. Vacations are more enjoyable with dolphins, sharks and orca not trapped in nets or sinking under oil spills. This could ultimately benefit the economy, the planet and our future. Thank you very much.

376. Maribeth Hulseay
Las Cruces, NM 88012

I live in a state that is becoming hotter & hotter each year. In Qatar the 'cities' are underground-. While they have acquired huge oil wealth for special infrastructure, that is not in our future. It's become clear our very populous coastal metropolises and all size of communities are at great risk from on-going climate change. Already we see in the news how our people repeatedly face considerable climate crises, about state emergencies of many kinds, about people who have lost much, or everything. It only worsens.

When you look around at young people and children, surely you want the best world we can leave them. And surely you know that is already a very changed world that no longer offers many of the graces and options that we ourselves have enjoyed. Some banks have been caught clearly cheating their customers, and yet still exist. Quick profits on fossil fuels must not trump our well-being, our continued existence, our debt to posterity. Stand up for life, for what is right.

I strenuously support the goals and recommendations of the Sierra Club regarding enhanced guidance from the Federal Reserve to banks and financial institutions to seriously mitigate climate risks. Serious mitigation of climate risks is existential and millions of people across the globe already suffer serious harm from delayed climate action.

382. Jeanne Jordan
Carrollton, TX 75007

I strongly believe in climate change. I believe everyone should be doing what they can to mitigate the impact of climate change. Part of that strategy should be the guidance that the Federal Reserve is creating for big banks on how to take climate change into consideration when making banking decisions on who they lend to and what types of loans they approve. I believe this new guidance should include expectations that the big banks not make any new investments that support fossil fuels. I believe fossil fuels are a large contributor to climate change and we must work aggressively away from fossil fuels. Once our environment is ruined it will be practically impossible to make changes to remedy the situation.

383. Jennifer Swearingen
Bozeman, MT 59715

I strongly support the new guidance on climate-related risks proposed by the Federal Reserve. Climate change is already having significant impacts on our economy, and it will only increase over time. Mandating climate-related risk management for big investment banks is rational and responsible.

384. J. Wackowski
Nashville, IN 47448

I strongly support this proposal. Banks and their investors' longtime support of the fossil fuel industry is the reason the planet is now at a precipice. It's incumbent on them to invest and support all companies and projects that are working to undo the damage. And NOW, not years away.!!

I support guidelines telling banks to take climate risk seriously. We should encourage immediate action. Delayed consequences, positive or negative, have little impact on behavior. People and corporations are more likely to act when rewards or punishments aren't delayed. We are creatures of immediate gratification. If a reward or punishment is imminent, then we're likely to act in a manner that results in a positive outcome for us.

I support these new guidelines and thank you for your leadership on this critical issue thus far. The impact our big banks have on the U.S. and global economy is enormous. Moving them toward taking long-term climate risk seriously will be hugely important in limiting the worst effects of climate change. Those effects will increasingly have destabilizing and disruptive effects on the U.S. and global economy. The world needs your leadership on this issue more than ever.

398. Robert Podurriel
Carnegie, PA 15106

I think it is in all of our best interests to consider potential damage from a changing climate when making financial decisions. Climate change is, and will continue to impose increasing costs on the infrastructure and housing stock of the United States in the form of extreme weather events. We are already seeing higher costs from more intense hurricanes, tornadoes, and flooding in the United States, and these costs are not insignificant, running into the billions of dollars each year. Any measures the Federal Reserve can take to mitigate climate risks will be a good investment in the future. The science is clear and compelling on this.

I was sorry to hear the lies from the Dallas federal reserve at the international conference on energy in south Texas a while ago not talking about clean energy and lying about all the jobs fossil fuel industry would provide. I'm assuming he was lying because when I raised my hand to ask for specifics on the jobs, he told me he didn't have them but, would get them to me which he never did. After many phone calls and emails I was ignored. It's time to stop destroying our planet with fossil fuel's powerful greenhouse gases causing worsening floods and storms and droughts in Africa where babies are dying from starvation because they're animals have been killed by our practices, causing climate crisis, the world over. My life is shorter by just living in Philadelphia because of the Shale boom and poor air quality here with the smog on the horizon most every day of the year. Stop what you're doing now by no longer supporting fossil fuel. Put our money into renewable energy, geothermal!

I'm sick and tired of big companies, sending false hope by greenwashing and not taking the climate emergency as seriously as it should be taken. I'm very angry that big banks have poured billions if not, trillions of dollars into dirty fossil fuels, even after the Paris climate agreement, which was a whopping 7 1/2 years ago. Have they learned anything! ? It's time that we force it on them. Otherwise, the whole world is going to face a completely hopeless, life and death, doom and gloom consequence of climate change that we won't be able to reverse! if they can pour big money into environmentally dangerous projects, there's absolutely NO excuse why they can't pour big money into clean energy projects, as well as water and land conservation, forest preservation, and protections for endangered species.

I'd like to give you a somewhat simplified, but nonetheless accurate example. I know for certain you wouldn't give me a loan to buy a car if you knew that car had a ticking time bomb in it. The bomb in fossil fuels is much much bigger and everyone can hear it ticking now.

If 2022 hasn't been a lesson in how human activity has affected our environment, then someone isn't paying attention. On the other had, ignorance is a problem with one's education or an ethical problem (probably greed or maybe, just a desire for

If the use of fossil fuels continues, all the money made from their sales will sit around doing nothing, because there will be NO ONE LEFT ALIVE TO SPEND IT. I know little about economics and finance, but I know enough about physics, chemistry and the earth sciences to know that at a certain point, which we are quickly approaching, the world will be uninhabitable by man. And at that point, all the money in the world -- literally -- will be useless.

If we do not take Climate Chaos seriously, we will miss our opportunity to protect our lifestyle for perhaps hundreds of years. Banks, who focus on potential ROI over time, need to take the risk of Climate Chaos seriously. We are near the tipping point and must back away from the edge in every aspect of our lifestyle--transportation, farming, construction, manufacturing, packaging, all of it--and banking finances all these things. Ignoring climate change is a case of property vs. people. To deniers, property is foremost. So they ignore climate change in the belief that taking any action will badly hurt their profits and the value of their energy stock shares. They then pay lobbyists and advertise to sucker the rest of the people into believing that any action would be based on false scientific research designed by scheming scientists. Those who know the consequences of ignoring the need for action are concerned about the inevitable dangers to millions of people.
They want to take immediate action because they believe the overwhelming scientific research that demonstrates the disasters to come if we don't take action
now. The deniers figure that the loss of a few thousand lives in climatic event after climatic event is just part of the cost of doing business. After all, they can't own people any more, so dead people don't count as a property loss to those for whom profit is the only criterion of success.

Ignoring climate change is insane!

438. Alfred Jonas

Biscane Park, FL 33161

Ignoring climate change is one problem with funding the fossil fuel industry. But it should also be remembered that fossil fuels are by definition limited. We can continue to scrape for them now, and do more damage to the earth and the environment, or we can replace them, as we're going to have to do anyway. When I was in medical school, the saying was that the approach to treating warts should take into account that they go away on their own anyway. You wouldn't amputate a limb to treat a problem that's going to disappear on its own. Nor should we continue the destruction created by harvesting and using fossil fuels that will be gone sooner or later anyway.

I'm a grandmother determined to control

I'm a retired university professor who taught courses about climate change and the many ways that it will further damage our society, our physical conditions caused by extreme hot and cold weather and its impacts on people's lives, our local and worldwide economy, and truly basic threats to our food supplies, our water supply, our livelihoods, and our entire economy. If we don't mitigate our climate risks very rapidly,

we may never be able to reduce the growing amounts of greenhouse gasses in the environment. The tipping point may occur much earlier than previous projections told us, so there is no such thing as "too early" to stop usage of fossil fuels entirely.

The Fed is our best hope of saving our economy, our whole financial system, and our very lives. We support the new guidelines that inform banks to take climate risk very seriously.

Please take a strong stand on requiring big banks to do the right thing to protect all people - especially the poor -- from the worst end.

In truth, I have to say this guidance is too little. It is the least of steps the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve should be taking and it is long overdue. Banks only give lip service to mitigating the risks of climate change while investing billions into companies that promote and produce fossil fuels. until we put a stop to these investments.

Just because the fascists in the red states are stopping the banks and other money-monsters, doesn't mean you can stop regulating them even more. We need to live. And also if you don't stop these monsters, your grandchildren will despise you no matter how much money you leave them.

Large fossil fuel corporations, banks and insurance companies are leaders in planetary environmental destruction. They absolutely must reverse course and do everything possible to stop global warming.

Lending always involves risks. The risks that lenders must take into account may have to be imposed for the benefit of the rest of us, in addition to the risks of the business that the lenders are willing to take on. One of the risks that ought to be imposed for the good of the rest of us is lending to environmentally harmful projects and enterprises. Lending under those circumstances should be barred in its entirety or regulated in part. One example of where lending should be banned entirely, is lending to drilling exploration and operations in the Arctic, where the risks of natural disaster, loss of life and destruction of property, are simply too great to bear. Lending involves assuming risks. The universe of risks that lenders voluntarily assume must be limited for the good of the rest of us who are in the zone of danger from risky lending. Thank you.

Little by little is how we will improve the climate for our future and children, if it is somewhat too late for the older generation. Banks play an important part by financing the direction of commerce. In addition, this is the wave of the future and getting ahead of the trend will undoubtedly be the financially prudent move. To date, I and several people I know well have moved away from banks specifically due to their stance on climate issues. We are watching.

Many people are making their desire for a better, cleaner world known by supporting those companies whose ideals align with their own. This is especially true with environmental issues. With so many renewable, sustainable energy sources now available, there is no longer any reason to support the use of fossil fuels. Personally I will not support any business that does not agree, and I will make sure to make my thoughts known to all my friends and families. It's time to do the right thing and stop supporting companies who are getting

Money and the law are the two things that developers want to stay on the right side of,
so we must have regulations requiring banks to pass on any investments that would make climate change worse in the long term. These regulations must have teeth and must require independent analysis of the potential climate and environmental effects of each project; they should not rely on false rationalizations written by a developer that wants funding.

My dad was a vice-president of the San Francisco Fed when I was in grade school, and over time we had numerous conversations about what economic indicators really indicated the health of the economy. My energy company, NorthWestern Energy continues to invest in coal and is even trying to divest itself of renewable energy in its portfolio. It is in the process of purchasing the dinosaur polluting behemoth known as the Colstrip power plant. These types of decisions are WRONG, and in the worst interest of humanity and will further destabilize climate change. Such companies should not receive loans or support of any kind from the public or responsible lending institutions (or anyone for that matter).

My family knows the risks of climate change. We have twice been unable to go home because of wildfires, as the roads home were closed as firefighters fought to control the blazes. Two of our friends have had to gut their houses due to the smoke generated from these infernos. Why? Because climate change has made things hotter, drier, and subject to fire nearly year round. So let's hit climate change where it matters: in the pocket book!

568. David Scheer

My message to ALL banks: would you PLEASE 'stop' funding fossil fuel companies?!? By doing that, you're 'increasing' the amount of CO2 emissions (=climate change!) into the air we all breathe---which in turn causes death and sickness of people...AND all living things on the Planet!! In short, you're wrecking Planet Earth by funding gas, oil, and coal companies!! But I have a solution: start funding solar, wind, hydro, and 'other' natural energy sources that HELP the Planet and don't "hurt" it!! Take the climate change "crisis" seriously...and HELP the world instead of 'hurting' it!! Thank you in advance for making the switch...(!!)

No one should be investing in fossil fuels. We are already seeing the financial, human, and environmental costs of climate change, and the fossil fuel industry is doing all it can to fight meaningful change. Our planet is in a disaster because of climate change. If we don't act on creating & using green energy sources, the earth will become uninhabitable. We all must support that effort. You must assist us by not lending money to or promoting fossil fuels so that our environment deteriorates further. This is not a hoax! Wild fires, tornados in places & in times which never experienced disasters at this time of year previously, are examples of climate change. Please take these statements seriously. Our weather patterns are rapidly changing, and becoming more severe. I'm not just talking about fires in California. This week we have a huge ice storm in Dallas. The storm covers roughly half of the country. When I was young, growing up in the Midwest, one tornado would send everyone to their basements. Today there are multiple tornados raging in parts of the country that have not experienced them years ago. It is everyone's responsibility to take climate change seriously. We need to produce and use clean energy. Banks need to join us in doing what they can to alleviate climate change.

Please take these guidelines seriously. It's too late to follow "business as usual" because it has always been profitable. We seem to be facing catastrophic changes in weather almost on a daily bases. Somewhere in the world the temperature is higher and dryer than it has ever been there before. Huge areas of fire are erupting as a result. In some other area of the world it is colder and/or storms of one kind or another are causing devastation from hurricanes and tornados , flooding or blinding snow storms. Livestock are dying or not producing. Crops are withering or freezing. Children can't go to school. And, possibly, someone gets so upset with the way they are being affected by the loss of homes, farms, or ability to produce a livable income, that they get a military type rifle, a lot of ammunition for it, drive to a Wal-Mart and kill as many people as they can. Please listen to the new guidance for managing climate-related risks.

Since 2016, 35 banks have poured $2.7 trillion into fossil fuels according to the Rainforest Action Alliance. It is no secret that banks are still heavily supporting fossil fuels which, in turn, is wreaking havoc on our planet. We are approaching the tipping point of taking action before irreparable harm is done. That said, there is so much innovation and community-level work that is being done that, if invested in, can not only provide resilience and help us move away from the tipping point in climate change, but can also help provide social returns in addition to financial returns. We need to think about the holistic system in terms of long-term goals and equity - in doing so, internalizing externalities of the system that are currently not being accounted for. The time for action is now and you have the ability to help ensure a safer, more equitable, and healthier future for us all going forward. Please take this into consideration and act accordingly. Thank you.

Thank you for taking action on the most important issue for the world: climate change. It is very important to me that the rhetoric espoused by banks is matched by their internal functioning on climate change.

Their short term perspective on gain must be shifted to a long term perspective on the health of this planet but that can only be done if all banks take the leap together. So providing guidance and regulatory oversight to ensure banks fully address the dangers of climate change is crucial to getting banks to align their "green words" with how they are truly investing money.

The absurdity of the Sierra Club asking me to explain why this matters to me - you are investing in the destruction of this planet, and in doing so supporting the hastening of

The climate crisis has been declared a code red for humanity by the IPCC, and the actions major US banks undertake now will directly affect our ability to avert the worst effects of the climate crisis. Already, Americans are suffering from fossil-fuel pollution and the increased severity and frequency of destructive weather. Citizens living in proximity to fossil fuel polluters, including people of color and low-income families, are exposed to some of the most dangerous air quality in the United States. These people deserve to be protected by building a clean energy future and phasing out the fossil fuel industry. The fossil fuel industry is not sustainable and has proved a poor investment for the 21st century. Our country has the science, engineering, and finances to advance us towards a greener and healthier climate for all.

U.S. banks are investing in fossil fuel industries, which are driving us deeper into the climate catastrophe. Regulate banks to end this risky system now.

812. Marie LaPorte

The climate crisis is real; its impacts are being felt all over the country. With so much real evidence available, why would banks continue support of any company or industry that would knowingly put our communities at further risk from the devastating impacts of climate change?
We've got dark money in politics influencing policies that by and large do NOT improve the lives of Americans and increases the tax burden on the bulk of American society.
Now is the time for banks to do their part in ending this cycle and let ordinary people (the bulk of their clients) know that they recognize the dangers and are willing to add their voices in a meaningful way to address this every growing problem facing the whole of humanity! Isn't it about time they did????

The entire banking system and insurance system needs to get on track and help face the coming problems with climate, and the destruction and illegal use of lands and the abuse the people who depend on those lands are suffering. Stop turning your back.
Start being responsible business instead of profit only to meet what the board of directors want. They are nothing. The earth and world are something.

The human race is already suffering from climate change - floods, droughts, the Colorado River possibly going dry, hurricanes, other bizarre weather changes. Scientists say it will continue to get worse. Thank you for telling banks they must take real steps to help slow climate change. We all must do everything we can!

833. MaryJo Stanley

The invasion of Ukraine has helped reveal fossil fuel investments as unsafe, with Russia using natural gas in an attempt to coerce Western European countries. In the US, we continue to have much higher than average number of billion dollar weather disasters. And investments in fossil fuel production now will take many years to start paying off, years when we should have already moved away from needing nearly as much gas as we use today. It's time to move on, and leave these risky investments alone.

The people in the banks just need to be in the middle of a disaster where they lose their home, and vehicles. Maybe if they experience a real loss first hand, they will finally understand that this is not made up. This is really happening. Just ask the millions of people under a weather warning nearly every day. It is time to pay attention to real life, and quit living only in your fancy offices.

The time is long overdue for banks to pay close attention to how their governance, planning, and risk management can and does influence climate change. Turning a blind eye toward environmental threats, while funding fossil fuel investments is indefensible. I commend the Fed for taking a strong stance, and enumerating expectations of how financial firms should manage climate-related risks; the impact of which can have far reaching and enduring positive effect on both our climate and communities. Thank you for your commitment to this important issue.

Theirs is a big responsibility. One they absolutely must consider when they are making those big financial deals which only benefit the very few. They are using g depositors money to do these deals with much as our taxes are used for labs, against everything t hat depositor stands for in most cases. This needs to stop. Our survival and all life tops everything else. Doing business as usual in today's climate is not only dangerous but down right irresponsible on too many levels.

There is no greater ?systemic risk,? today or act any time in human history, than climate change. The depth to which we bury our children in the smoldering wreckage of our climate system is, in large measure, a function of how long our financial institutions and they regulators continue to treat fossil fuel companies as normal, sane, morally plausible clients. Every day that we accept the business model of these companies as normal or acceptable is a further increment of heating to the Earth, inflicted upon our children without their consent. If this Administration does not wish to preside over the forfeiture of our last chance to stabilize our climate, you must direct all major financial institutions under federal regulation to terminate all credit, insurance, and banking relationships with fossil fuel companies.

This is truly a case where the three pillars of sustainability: people, planet, profit (or equity, environment, and economy) converge. This guidance is desperately needed to "nudge" those who care only about their own short-term profit. The situation requires we act with the long-term big picture in mind ? for the sake of our health and our economy. This matter is very important to me. Banks need to address climate change for the welfare of the planet, as discussed below, but it also is true that these matters are material from a financial standpoint. The upheavals caused by climate change and the actions of deniers and those seeking to profit to the last minute from fossil fuels will also impact financial welfare of companies and the banks that lend to them, and ultimately the customers of those banks, too, including me.

We are all responsible for the kind of environment, including the climate, our children and grandchildren will have in the future, whether it will be healthy and livable for humans and all earth's creature or not. If we continue to invest in fossil fuels, we know our planet's future will not be very livable. Banks must do their part and stop investing in fossil fuels. The Federal Reserve must have and enforce strong guidelines directing banks to take concrete steps to ensure a healthy future.

951. Deborah Gordon-Brown

952. Cherie Jemsek

We are already experiencing climate changes. It's not a question of whether it will get worse. We need to do whatever we can to preserve the future for the next generations. To have banks invest in fossil fuels when I am deleting those investments is counterproductive. Everyone is affected by climate, not just a few. As long as we exist, we need to respect our environment, not bleed it until it can no longer support us. We all need to be on board to make a difference. We need leaders not procrastinators acting in self interest. Please set the bar high on fossil fuel investments so we act conscientiously now. Thank you.

We are counting on you to do the right things in the short term in order to insure the long-term viability of American businesses and our environment. Companies that get on the right side of this issue now are going to be winners in the global battle for customers.

956. Joy Reich

Boulder, CO 80304

We are counting on you to seriously take the issue of climate risk and its effect on individuals, companies and the earth.

957. Greg Rynders

HOLLADAY-COTTONWOOD, UT 84117

We are currently in a Polar Blast of freezing weather across the country and we are in the midst of a ten-year drought thanks to fossil fuels. let's stop this insanity

958. Denise Taggart

Atlanta, GA 30327

We are facing an existential crisis for humans and other living things that can be averted if we make changes NOW! I saw 2 separate speakers several years ago, one was the #2 guy at the Pentagon and the other was representing the CDC, each describing steps being taken to be prepared for the impacts of climate change: the Pentagon for the increased risk to national security from the melting of polar ice creating a real "Northwest Passage" which was already under battle for control by Russia and China, in addition to some friendlier countries--plus the rampant global climate refugees pouring across borders; the CDC was ramping up for unchecked growth of water-related diseases (malaria, cholera), and famine--from both droughts and floods, plus there will be a significant decrease in protein in staple crops from the plants growing too fast from the extra CO2 and water, in the wetter areas. We must take every step we can to prevent this nightmare.

959. Delano Erwin
Charlottesville, VA 22902
We are in a climate crisis. Do something to help!

960. Joan Noblet
Barkhamsted, CT 6063
We are knowingly putting our children's future in jeopardy. Global warming is not an opinion it is a fact.

961. Louise Pillai
Copake, NY 12516
We are living in different times. In the past, we mistakenly did not take the future into account, but lived in a short-term mindset, ignoring and denying the consequences of our actions. Those times are over. While we still have time to soften some of the fearful effects of climate instability, it would be nothing less than suicide not to do so. Business is no longer just business, but the business of responsible stewardship of this one and only Earth.

962. Grace Kennedy
Bend, OR 97703
We are not acting seriously about Climate Change. It isn't pretend time, we MUST act now. Big Banks are part of the problem. It is time for Big Banks to step up and be part of the solution. No longer can they use the excuse at it isn't economically feasible. The cost of doing nothing will far out way the cost of acting. Just look at what has happened in California this winter. And that is only one small part of the world being affected. Do everything necessary, now. Act now!

963. Harold Jacobowitz
New York, NY 10028
We are running out of time to deal with climate risk. We owe our best efforts to deal with this crisis to our children and grandchildren. Please help.

964. Susan Stebbins
Ephrata, WA 98823
We are running out of time.
Cut the crap and support OUR Climate instead.
No amount of money is going to go with you when Mother Earth decides she's done. Invest in her future, not your pocket books.

965. M F Kite
Mount Pleasant, SC 29464
We are seeing real effects from the neglect of our climate---water has become a serious issue in the West. More trouble lies ahead, so thank you for being part of the solution.

966. Carol Creech
N Richland Hills, TX 76180
We are standing on the precipice of environmental catastrophe. Your actions could help prevent that. What could be more important?

967. Neil Michael Cloyd
Montrose, CO 81401
We are stewards for the earth

968. Frances Recca
Netcong, NJ 7857
WE ARE WATCHING TO SEE IF YOU ARE TRULY FOR THE PEOPLE!!!!!!!!!!

969. Paul Wilson
Fairport, NY 14450
We are years behind in moderating the growing consequences of rampant carbon pollution. Finance must be a leading driver of innovation toward a cleaner, resilient environment the mitigate the gravest consequences. We need moonshot level investment to spare the planet from grave consequences in lost investment and lost lives.

970. Erin Moore
Bellingham, WA 98225
We can create a world for our children that includes moderate climate changes! But the big banks and financial institutions must act NOW. Thank you! Help us be hopeful. We are doing what we can at home, installing a solar system and more. But we need the "big boys and girls" to act - Now.

971. Shirley Karas
phoenix, AZ 85050
We can do so much id we all get on board.

972. Mary Arps Thompson
Duluth, MN 55803

We can?t hide from it. Climate change is here.

973. Mary Bautista
New York, NY 10031
We cannot afford to keep risking the full catastrophe of climate change.

974. Sharon Geiken Westerberg
Minden, NV 96746
We cannot continue to prop up the fossil fuel industry by our banks investing at the expense of our lives on this planet..this is insane!

975. Sirina Nagi
Bronx, NY 10473
We cannot trust the banks to do what?s best for the planet when their business is to make a profit. It is up to our federal government to regulate in the best interest of the people!

976. Kay Clement
Plymouth, MI 48170
we cannot wait any longer. we must live a sustainable life for this Earth to survive.

977. Rebecca Boetto
El Paso, TX 79912
We can't allow organizations driven solely by profits to make decisions that affect whether we will have food or a place to live without serious regulation. They have already proven they cannot be trusted.

978. JOELYNt PAWENSKI
Canton, MI 48187
We can't be complacent. The EPA was created in the early 70s and there was a high amount of environmental concern in that decade. Where are we now? It's inexcusable not to stand strong and protect people, creatures and our planet. We will not remain beholden to big money and special interests.

979. Jennifer Harris
Wilmette, IL 60091

We desperately need regulatory guardrails to limit banks' financing of fossil fuel assets and enterprises. Money make the climate change go 'round, and regulatory constraints could make a big difference.

980. Jeffrey Paul LaGasse
Freeland, WA 98249
We do not have a backup planet.

981. Patricia Lailey
Makawao, HI 96768
We do not have time to continue creating more pollution!

982. John and Susan Twiggs
Marshfield, WI 54449
we expect actionable steps to mitigate climate change One of the most important is to stop investing in fossil fuels.

983. Cindy Gross
Saint Louis, MO 63104
We have a responsibility to our neighbors and future generations to do everything in our power to lower our greenhouse gas emissions and transition to renewable energy sources as soon as possible. We need all parts of our economy supporting this effort!

984. Helga Burkhardt
White Salmon, WA 98672
We have been slow as a country to recognize the horror of climate change. We need to wake up finally and not put our heads in the sand....

985. Julie Parisi

Woodstock, NY 12498

We have less than ten years to mitigate the damage caused by decades of lies, inaction and pandering to the fossil fuel industry. We're running out of time. You have to act.

986. Marilyn O'Malley
Eugene, OR 97402
We have no time to waste in addressing Climate Change. Banks need to invest responsibly with the planet in mind.

987. Carol Levin
Bedminster, NJ 7921
We have only one chance for our future...there is no other Earth.

988. George Perkins
Madison, WI 53711
We have put our money where our mouth is. Retirement savings are in ESG (environmental social governance) investments and our day-to-day checking and savings are at a credit union. But we are small savers and need a larger commitment from ALL investors and users of the financial system to prevent climate change catastrophe. Please!

989. Gayle Early
La Mesa, CA 91941
We have to be smarter with our resources and the planet, NOW.

990. Gordon Svoboda
Akron, OH 44313
We have to stop funding initiatives that we know will have negative environmental impacts. We are not lemmings.

991. Linda Goetz
Tucson, AZ 85715
We have to stop the entire flow - the padding of the accounts of the oil barons with OUR tax dollars, and convince them to change over to wind, solar and wave technology as soon as possible. Members of Congress must divest themselves from owning oil shares. We will NEVER make this happen until Congress feels the pain themselves. And with their ridiculously high salaries, they are no longer regular Americans. They have become greedy and no longer see their job as a public service. So much needs to change, but it never will until Congressional members have to divest.

992. Linda Fitz Gibbon
Woodland, CA 95695
We literally can't afford not to take climate change into consideration of banking matters!

993. Kathleen Giustino
Berkeley, CA 94707
We live on this planet. We are fouling our own nest. Banks must plan to combat climate threats. The future is at stake.

994. Gaetane Gonzales
Albuquerque, NM 87110
We must act immediately to help combat climate change.

995. Patricia Kingston
Fergus Falls, MN 56537
We must act NOW and the most wealthy country on earth should lead.

996. Brenda Kitrosser
Oceanside, CA 92056
We Must All disallow BIG BANKS support of Any Fossil Fuels That ultimately Destroy Our Planet?

997. Linda Huggins
Lansing, KS 66043

We must all do our part and work toward a cleaner planet because the scientist speak the truth. I choose my investment and banking based on green options.

998. Janet McDonnell
Arlington Heights, IL 60004
We must be good ancestors.

999. Bonnie Yohe
Lincoln, NE 68506
We must choose stewardship over greed.

1000. Wade Johnson
Minneapolis, MN 55407
We must do all we can to eliminate our dependence on fossil fuels.

1001. Paula Grande
New York, NY 10003
We must do everything possible to mitigate climate change.

1002. KATHRYN ELALOUF
TAMPA, FL 33611
We MUST fight greed in order to preserve our planet!

1003. Mark Coryell
Phoenix, AZ 85045
We must get serious about climate change.

1004. Timothy Kruser
Madison, WI 53716
We must have cooperation from the financial sector to tackle climate change. Please prioritize our climate and environment!

1005. William Gawne
North Riverside, IL 60546
We must listen to the science and address the climate catastrophe we now face and those effects on the economy. We bailed out the banks too often at our expense.

1006. Christina Farnsworth
Pacific Grove, CA 93950
We must not be undone in our sustainability efforts by corporate greed!

1007. Naomi Sobo
San Diego, CA 92122
We must not support the use of fossil fuel in any way.

1008. Cristina Vazquez
Waynesville, NC 28786
We must protect nature!!

1009. Mary Frazer
Raleigh, NC 27603
We must protect our future. Thinking only in the short term will devastate our planet.

1010. Sandra Ciske
Seattle, WA 98116
We must take actions now to address climate risk. Please do you share now.

1011. William Cromwick
Brighton, MA 2135
WE must take Climate Change as the EMERGENCY that it is!

1012. Marilyn Overton
Edmonds, WA 98020
We must take climate change seriously! The threat is real, and everyone needs to be on board.

1013. Anne Smith
Delhi, NY 13753
We must take climate risks seriously!

1014. Maria Leblanc
Raleigh, NC 27610

We must take the climate crisis seriously in order to survive as a species.

1015. Rebecca Showalter
Raleigh, NC 27614
We need all industries on deck to make a difference for ourselves and our children, especially banks that fund EVERYTHING. Climate change is the challenge of our time! My kids are counting on YOU.

1016. Paul Smith
Wells, ME 0
We need all the tools possible to help minimize climate change effects; we're already paying the price for slow action and that cost will only continue to grow if nothing is done to regulate big business.

1017. Lana May
Mount Prospect, IL 60056
We need banks and companies to see the risks in supporting fossil fuel projects. The risks to our health, our environment, our food supply, and our FUTURE! Big banks must mitigate the risks and end fossil fuel production.

1018. Michael Carpenter
Troy, MI 48083
We need banks to provide the capital for renewable energy development so we can minimize global warming. They should not be funding continued development of carbon-based energy sources.

1019. Barbara Arnzen
Spokane, WA 99202
We need change now!

1020. Sylvia Valencia
Las Vegas, NV 89135
We need every business to take responsibility for climate change.

1021. Maureen Mchugh
Chambersburg, PA 17202
We need financial institutions to support green energy now, and not fossil fuels! Our current safety and the future of the planet are at stake!

1022. Jennifer Herrmann
Hiawatha, KS 66434
We need incentives to invest in renewable energy sources. Thank you for recognizing the damaging impact of fossil fuels and how banks impact the cycle of promoting further damage to our plant, environment, health and very existence.

1023. James Maggi
Pine City, MN 55063
We need new guidelines to tell banks to take climate change seriously! Banks continued investments in fossil fuels are driving climate change!

1024. Bernadette Tourtual
Lindenwold, NJ 8021
We need the cooperation of all people, including banks to protect our environment from adverse events and harmful products.

1025. Darlene Jakusz
Amherst Junction, WI 54407
We need to act soon as the climate is very unpredictable!

1026. Zoe Warner
Malvern, PA 19355
We need to address climate change from all angles. Not investing in fossil fuel extraction is a crucial step forward. If we leave it in the ground, we don't have to find new ways to deal with the emissions. Leaving it on the ground means zero emissions.

1027. Rand Friedenfels
MEDFORD, WI 54451
We need to cut this carbon fuels crap!

1028. Glen Martin
Sun City West, AZ 85375
We need to do it yesterday!

1029. Shoshana Serxner-Merchant
Raleigh, NC 27607
We need to go green and get away from fossil fuels.

1030. Linda Lauer
Monroe, MI 48162
We need to have a longterm perspective and stop chasing after short-term profits regardless of the consequences.

1031. Rebecca Rottapel
Boston, MA 2130
We need to implement system change now. Lack of accountability today means assured destruction tomorrow. Let's start to build a society were we actually start to think ahead and show care for the world that we are leaving our children and their children. Otherwise, what is the point??

1032. Robert Sullivan
Poway, CA 92064
We need to make decisions that are beneficial to the next generation, not just the next quarterly profits.

1033. Curtis Krock
Champaign, IL 61822
We need to make it more expensive to develop fossil fuels so that they are priced in a way that reduces their use.

1034. D Bell
Franklinton, NC 27525

We need to protect the Earth from climate change. We see the effects every day from our lack of concern for our planet's future. This attitude MUST stop or the future generations of ALL living creature will be in jeopardy. I strongly urge you to do your part to stop climate change by investing in projects that are NOT linked to fossil fuels.

1035. Barbara Piszczek
Oxnard, CA 93036

We need to protect the planet to save our own future

1036. Eugene Ruoff
Gardiner, NY 12525

We need to pull every lever we can to rein in climate change. If you care about the US economy, which I know you do, then you know our economy be a lot better off without climate-induced wildfires, sea level rise, and extreme weather events. Banks financing climate change are one of the biggest causes of the problem. Please help in any way you can!

1037. Jerry Cleveland
Spring Valley, MN 55975

We need to start financing projects that will save the environment; not ones that will speed it's demise.

1038. Katie Smith
boone, NC 28607

We need to take climate action seriously before it's too late. The U.S is respond for a majority of Co2 emmisions and we need to take out part as a country and put in regulations sooner. We need bigger solutions to the problem. Consumerism is a big addition to exhausting natural resources for and resources. Amazon needs restrict ions as a large percent of the encomoy relies on Amazon including almost every household.

1039. Mary Sojourner
Flagstaff, AZ 86005

We need to think about future generations and act accordingly. I am a tax-payer. I pay your salaries. As your employer, I instruct you to put dealing with climate change at the head of your agenda.

1040. Judith Vitaliano
Bloomington, IN 47408

We need to transition fossil fuels into the rear view mirror.

1041. Lucy D. Atkins
Las Cruces, NM 88005

We need to be sure that we all are not fried during the 2030s and 2040s. If we do not get fried we will be overrun by immigrants who are having that problem and thus moving to where it appears there is still hope. Study this carefully and start changing your investment?look at NM House Bill 188 to get ideas! Thank you for your consideration of these comments and your action to change the status quo before it is too late! Sincerely, Lucy Atkins

We're all in this together

1060.       Marsha Maguire
Sequim, WA 98382
We're already living through the first horrendous effects of climate change -- more powerful storms, drought, far-reaching wildfires, disease, the necessity of moving residents in threatened areas, much more. What, exactly, will it take for banks to stop actually funding the causes of these and future disasters? What kind of world are we -- are you -- leaving our kids?

1061.       John Sunde

What bankers seem to forget that as sea levels rise and shorelines erode those living on or near shorelines will lose everything and default on their mortgages and companies soon to follow bankruptcy flows banks and bankers will follow suit so it's in their best interest to invest in climate action before it's too late to recover ?

1065. Richard Gilbert

What good is money when the earth is uninhabitable by humans?

1066. Deborah Hogshead
Troy, OH 45373

What kind of planet will our grandchildren and great-grandchildren (yours and mine) inherit? That's a grave concern. We have to put long-term sustainability above short-term profits. If we don't have a sustainable planet, no one will profit--not your decedents, not mine, and not the banks. I support new guidelines telling banks to take climate risk seriously.

1067. Susan Lanes

When banks invest in fossil fuels, they put vulnerable communities, our financial system and our planet in serious danger!

1070. Evan Lawrence
Cambridge, NY 12816

When banks make bad decisions, whether about mortgages and loans or climate change risk, everyone suffers.

1071. Elizabeth Banwell
Howell, NJ 7731

When climate catastrophes can wipe out one's entire accumulated wealth, preventing such becomes paramount. Climate problems are worsening. Life is more important than money!

1072. Evelyn Fenter
Chesterfield, MO 63017

Where Banks are concerned money speaks loudly. Please use it to back climate issues and moving forward to protect our planet.

1073. Mary Yee
Philadelphia, PA 19143

Where, and how banks invest in fuel, industries, or food industries, has a great impact on corporations, and therefore our planet.

1074. Wayne Teel
Keezletown, VA 22832

While I recognize that your first priority is inflation, climate change will dominate our economy in the immediate future. It already has an impact via repeated and often catastrophic storms, fires and droughts. You should not wait to solve the inflation problem before you begin telling banks that they need to consider climate change when developing their loan portfolios. Lending money to fossil fuels companies is simple not workable. They need to make a switch of priorities, or at least be forced into considering a different set of loan recipients.

1075. Larry Lewis

Why not screw the capitalist for once rather than constantly screwing average citizens of the world?

1076. Barbara Federman

Wild swings in weather patterns have become more dangerous. We must take climate change seriously before it's too late to save the planet.

1077. Wendy Olson
Duluth, MN 55804
With abnormal catastrophes occurring worldwide and anomalous glacial melt and ice berg breakoffs, we need to act now. The fossil fuel industry has been contributing to climate change since the 1940's at least and it's time for a transition away from it. Please invest in renewable energy.

1078. Nancy Embach
Crystal Lake, IL 60014
With the continued extreme weather incidents, we need your support to fight climate change.

1079. Celeste Rossmiller
Aurora, CO 80010

Without a livable planet, there will be nothing to finance. As we destroy more and more of the life systems on the planet, financed by Wall Street and big banks, there will be less and less gain to be had.

1080. Paul Freitas
Napa, CA 94558
Wouldn't it be fair for them to Reimburse those damaged by climate catastrophe

1081. Carol DeBell
Clear Lake, IA 50428
Yes, you bet I support new guidelines telling banks to take climate risk seriously! Why put so many at risk for the benefit of the few wealthy at the top. So MANY, MANY have suffered through the extremes of weather that had been forecast and continue in a wide arrange of incidents. Continuing to help the already wealthy you contribute to the demoralized suffering of many.

1082. Liz Peltekian
Brooklyn, WI 53521
You are just as responsible for the greenhouse gas emissions as the companies you fund. Please take your responsibility seriously. It matters.

1083. K. A. Lemon
Denver, CO 80222
You are very good at protecting corporations and the wealthy and very bad at protecting workers and everyday people which includes climate change. Someone within the system has to stand the f#@k up and do the right thing before it's too late.

1084. Carol Garey
Quincy, IL 62301
You can't continue to lend to highly questionable private or public financing of environmentally questionable projects. You must consider the risks. Act in accordance with your responsibility as bankers by refusing projects that increase greenhouse gas emissions. Measure the risks to our climate and our communities. Respond to climate threats by investing in those businesses and, in many communities across our country, to support businesses that support reductions in climate related risks and in local communities that are currently in need of development as well, without adding to further environmental damage.

1085. Susan Watkins
Worthington, OH 43085
You have the money! Protect our planet. Fight climate change and stop investing in oil and gas and other harmful things!

1086. Betty Arnall

1093. Jen Chandler
Prescott, AZ 86305
YOU must stop funding the climate crisis. It is time to invest in renewable energy and climate change mitigation and adaptation for our communities NOT fossil fuels. Banks must take climate risk seriously -- the choices you make now will determine the future for current and future generations.

1094. Thomas Herlacher
Waterloo, IL 62298
You need to be investing in renewable energy projects instead of fossil fuels.

1095. David Beaulieu
Los Angeles, CA 90026
You should have done this many years ago!

1096. Taza Guthrie
Tucson, AZ 85716
You will destroy our planet for the sake of filthy lucre?

1097. Penny Allen
Cleveland Heights, OH 44118
Your action on this will set an example for the world.

1098. Martha Ronk
Los Angeles, CA 90041
Your efforts will make a world of difference;
climate change has the potential to destroy both habitat and us. Thank you for taking up this issue.

1099. Katherine Denison
Rochester, NY 14625
Your heirs will live in a dystopian world without swift action. This generation's greed will leave the next struggling and the next after that in unimaginable suffering.
It's in your hands to stop this. You've started. Please take urgent next steps.

1100. Paul Severance
Beech Grove, IN 46107
Your role is particularly crucial if we are to avoid ecological disaster.
